Trustees and Their Role on the Township Board

Wednesday, April 15, 2020

12PM

Duration: 60 minutes

$25 for Members

Most of you know the Township Board of Trustees used to be more commonly known as the Board of Auditors. This webinar will look how the governor's orders related to the Open Meetings Act influence your board meetings (public participation, technology, etc.); how your obligations to follow other laws are (or likely, are not) are influenced by COVID-related regulations/orders (i.e., Municipal Budget Law, FOIA), etc.; and how else do we carry on "business as usual" in these unusual times (i.e., some unique and new ideas that have been shared by your colleagues).

Presented by: John Redlingshafer

John Redlingshafer is an attorney with Mescher, Rinehart & Redlingshafer in Washington. He primarily represents units of local government, focusing on the legal needs of townships and road districts, but also offers legal services in residential, commercial, and agricultural contracts, as well as estate work. John was appointed, then elected to the Tazewell County Board, deciding against running for re-election in 2018. He lives in Washington with his wife and four children.

Webinars are convenient, affordable, and interactive.
